GOVERNOR SMITH SIGNS REPEAL OF ENFORCEMENT ACT

Also Issues Statement in Which He Defended Position

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 1.—Governor Smith this evening signed the legislature's bill wiping the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement act off the statute books.

And he went further. Acceding to the urging of his friends that he strike a note in a campaign for the return of light wines and beer he denounced the one half of one percent alcoholic beverage content provided in the Volstead act as "the work of fanatical drys" calling on congress to modify it to a "common sense" maximum, and then leave each state free to set a figure below that maximum if it so desires.

"I yield to no man in my reverence and respect for the constitution of the United States and I advocate nothing which will infringe upon the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment" the governor said. "It is nevertheless, a fact that the definition of an intoxicating beverage contained in the Volstead act is not an honest or a common sense one. It is impossible to divorce from the public mind the impression that the definition of an intoxicating beverage as containing not more than one half of one percent of alcohol was written by the fanatical drys in defiance of the general experience of mankind and of actual fact. It seems to me that common sense, backed up by good medical opinion can find a more scientific definition of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage."

"Such a definition should be adopted by congress as a proper and responsible amendment of the Volstead act and a maximum alcoholic content should be prescribed by congress which would limit all states to the traffic in liquors which are in fact non-intoxicating within the meaning of the Eighteenth Amendment. Subject to that limitation each state should thereafter be left free to determine for itself what should constitute an intoxicating beverage. States which then wished to limit traffic to beverages containing not more than one half of one percent of alcohol would be free to do so and those which desired to extend the traffic to the maximum limitation allowed by federal statute would be equally free to do so."

The governor emphasized, however, that the mere repeal of the Mullan-Gage act, accomplished by his signature, did not alter the effectiveness of the Volstead act in its present form as long as it stands unmodified and served notice on all peace officers of the state that they would be expected to "enforce the Volstead act in its strictest letter."

The governor's action on the Mullan-Gage repeal measure, which had been heralded as the most momentous matter affecting prohibition since the adoption of the Volstead act, was dramatic in its simplicity. Summoning into his office at 6 o'clock the army of newspapermen who had waited about the state house all day, he smilingly lifted a blotter from his wet signature and said:

"Boys, I have just approved the bill."

FORMER ROOMMATE OF MOUNT SAYS HE COMMITTED SUICIDE

Roscoe C. Fitch Will Help Police to Prove Theory

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 1.—Roscoe Conkling Fitch, a former roommate of Leighton Mount, Northwestern University student who disappeared after a class fight in September 1921 declared over the long distance telephone from his home in Ludington Mich., that he had given State's Attorneys who interviewed him today "absolute proof and documentary evidence,' that Mount committed suicide.

Young Fitch who had previously made contradictory statements about the Mount case said that he had not made known the information because of a desire to spare Mount's parents with whom he had lived. He said he was coming to Chicago tomorrow to help the authorities to substantiate the evidence he gave them.

Fitch was questioned today by Sbarbaro, assistant state's attorney's who went to Ludington from Chicago.

"I gave Mr. Sbarbaro and Mr. Wharton absolute proof that Leighton Mount committed suicide," Fitch said over the phone. "I supplied them with written evidence to this effect and they are now on their way back to Chicago with this evidence. I cannot make it public until they allow me to tell it. The assistant state's attorneys said after hearing what I told them that they too believed Mount committed suicide. I did not tell the facts I gave today before because I want to spare Leighton's parents with whom I had lived."

WILL TRY TO DISPOSE OF VEXED QUESTION

(By The Associated Press)

PEORIA, Ill., June 1.—The Illinois State Bar association tomorrow afternoon will attempt to dispose of the question of legal educational requirements which has vexed the association since a year ago. The present requirement is four years of high school study or the equivalent.

A lengthy discussion on the question of raising the legal educational requirements to the standard proposed now was held in the annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar association last year but action was deferred until the present meeting. Final discussion and decision on the question are set for tomorrow afternoon.

Bankruptcy proceedings against the firm, brought a flood of selling orders into both the curb market and New York stock exchange during the day the losses in issues ranging from one to five points.

AMENDMENT TO GATEWAY BILL IS NEAR DEATH

Is Saved by Senator Mills of Cass County Friday

(By The Associated Press)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June1.—Senate Joint Resolution No. 1., providing for submission to the voters of a gateway amendment to the state constitution was snatched from the jaws of death tonight by its author, Senator Mills, Republican, Virginia, when it lacked six votes of adoption. He postponed consideration until a future date when some absent senators will be present.

With 34 votes necessary for the measure's success, the roll call was 28 to 11, but before the result was announced Senator Mills asked postponement and it was granted. The resolution probably will be called up next Wednesday for final action, when, with a good attendance, its proponents are hopeful it will win.

Under the proposal only one word in the present constitution would be changed "three" would be submitted for "one" in the amending clause, thus allowing submission to the voters of changes to three articles at one election.

A similar resolution failed in the house last week, but adoption of a motion to reconsider brought it back on the calendar where it has been awaiting propitious circumstances before being brought to another vote.

Senator Kessinger, Republican, Aurora, argued for the gateway, declaring the senate should enact constructive legislation of which there is for the session, he said, only one example, the cooperative marketing bill.

Senator Smith, Republican, Decatur, spoke of the need for amending the present basic law to allow taxation of thousands of persons now paying little to the state in proportion to their wealth.

Senator Barr, Republican, Joliet, asserted the gateway is safe and conservative, as it requires a majority vote of the people as would any proposed amendment.

The only speaker against the resolution was Senator Jewell, Republican, Lewistown, who favored adoption of a revenue amendment rather than a gateway.

Senator Kessinger pointed out that it was due largely to the revenue section of the proposed new constitution that the latter was defeated at the polls last winter.

The bill of Senator Meents, Republican, Askum, for a highway police force was sent to third reading tonight, being amended to limit the number of men to 125 and to require a $1,000 bond of each member.

It originally provided for one man to each twenty miles of hard road, but Senator Dunlap, Republican, Savoy, whose bill for a state constabulary was defeated some time ago succeeding in setting a limit to the force.

These highway police would have power to arrest any person suspected of any crime and would aid in enforcing laws in general in addition to their chief duty of enforcing the motor vehicle law. In substance the Meents bill provides for the same force as did the Dunlap bill, but does not establish as large a force.

Two bills today failed of passage in the senate lacking the required 26 votes for ordinary measures. They were the Essington uniform illegitimacy bill and the VanLent bill for an old age pension fund.

The $18,000,000 omnibus appropriation bill again was discussed today in the senate appropriations committee but it was decided not to offer amendments until the bill is on the senate floor.

SCIENCE AND RELIGION

Forty distinguished Americans, including two cabinet officers—the Secretaries of Commerce and Labor—have come out with an appeal for science and religion both, as not antagonistic to each other and both necessary. They explain:

"The purpose of science is to develop, without prejudice or preconception of any kind, a knowledge of the facts, the laws and the processes of nature. The even more important task of religion on the other hand is to develop the conscience, the ideals, and the aspirations of mankind. Each of these two activities represents a deep and vital function of the soul of man, and both are necessary for the life, the progress and the happiness of the human race.

"It is a sublime conception of God which is furnished by science and one wholly consonant with the highest ideals of religion, when it represents Him as revealing Himself through countless ages in the development of the earth as an abode for man in the age-long breathing of life into its constituent matter, culminating in man with his spiritual nature and all his Godlike powers."

This is the view taught in colleges, including those which teach evolution. Nobody is obliged to accept it, but it probably agrees with the thinking of Americans today.

THE SPECTACLED AVERAGE

There are fewer blind people in America than there were 10 years ago, and the number decreases steadily. On the other hand, more people wear spectacles and the spectacled fraternity is inceasing.

Greater care at birth, accident prevention and sight-saving work account for the reduction in total blindness. Spectacles themselves help. All this is good as far as it goes. But what America needs is to back its efforts to prevent blindness with a steady campaign for the cultivation and preservation of normal eyesight, with spectacles reserved for acute cases or to offset the inevitable changes due to age.

Much can be done by proper lighting facilities in home, school and work-room and through steady instruction as to the proper position as regards light for reading and working. Frequent rest periods when using the eyes and varying close work with physical exercise or tasks requiring less eye strain will help to promote normal vision.

Where glasses are needed they should be worn, but there is no doubt that if the same attention were devoted to the preservation of normal sight which is devoted to the prevention of blindness the spectacled average could be reduced rapidly.

AFTER THEY DIE

(N. E. A.)

Speaking of Abraham Lincoln, one of the leading New York newspapers said editorially in its issue of May 19, 1860:

"The Republican convention at Chicago has nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois for President of the United States—a third-rate Western lawyer, poorer than poor Pierce. The conduct of the Republican party in this matter is a remarkable indication of a small intellect growing smaller. They passed over Seward, Chase and Banks, who are statesmen and able men, and they take a fourth-rate lecturer who cannot speak good grammar and who, to raise the wind, delivers his hackneyed, illiterate compositions at $200 apiece. Our readers will recollect that this peripatetic politician visited New York two or three months ago on his financial tour, when, in return for the most unmitigated trash, interlarded with coarse and clumsy jokes, filled his empty pockets with dollars coined out of Republican fanaticism."

Five days later a leading Philadelphia newspaper said of Lincoln: "There is not in all the history of his life any exhibition of intellectual ability and attainment fitting him for the high and responsible post for which he has been nominated. His coarse language, his illiterate style and his vulgar and vituperative personality in debate contrast very strongly with the elegance and classical oratory of the eminent senator from New York."

In wilder moments some of the leading papers and political harangners called Lincoln a "freak," a "baboon who had escaped from the morasses of Illinois," a "vulgar clown" and a "low-bred village politician."

Lincoln, when he ran for the presidency, stood about as much ridicule and unmerited slander as any political candidate in our history. However, he looms greater and greater with the passing of the years. His greatness lives on while most of the newspapers that vituperated him have died of dry rot.

You contrast Lincoln's standing in history with the things they said about him when he was alive. There never was a better illustration that the importance and historical worth of a man cannot be judged by the generation in which he lives.

It takes death and the perspective of time to "place" him properly. Most of the prominent people who rank highly now will be gone and forgotten within half a century. And the ones who survive time's sifting process and emerge truly great will be, in many cases,

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

MURAL DECORATION

By Berton Braley

("Bright wallpaper gives pep and zest to a house and those in it."—Lucy Taylor to the National Wallpaper Manufacturers' Association.)

PETER JONES was peaceful, Peter Jones was mild,
He never did a single thing unusual or wild;
They "rode him" at the office, his good wife ruled his home,
No thought or dream rebellious had ever filled his dome;
The crowd forever jostled him, the rough guys trampled on him,
He meekly took the many woes that fortune wished upon him.
A spineless sort of character, who talked in meekest tones,
A humble individual was Mr. Peter Jones.

THE paperhanger came one day, and in the entrance hall
Of Peter Jones' domicile he pasted on the wall
Some brilliant yellow paper—the effect of which was such
That when our hero saw it he was pepped up pretty much.
He read his wife the riot act, he filled her heart with fear,
He bellowed in a raucous voice, "By Heck, I'm master here!"
And next day at the office, quite reversing all his ways,
He walked in on the manager and bluffed him for a raise!

THAT brilliant yellow paper made the other rooms seem dim,
So Peter ordered paper which had color, light and vim.
With scarlet and with purple, with cardinal and pink
He papered all his domicile until it made you blink;
And as the paperhangers came and pasted up each roll,
Why, Peter grew more cocky and more arrogant of soul;
He's managing the business now, his meekness all has fled,
And you'll find his private office papered brilliantly in red!

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL HAS STRANGE FINALE

J. H. S. Seniors Atteend Theri Own Obsequies, as Preformed by Juniors—Rites were somehat Premature, Hence the Phenomenon.

One of the most impressive funeral services held in the city in recent years was that of J. H. S. Seniors. Ceremonies were in charge of the Junior class of the high school and were held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The peculiar thing about the whole proceeding was that it seemed to make no difference to those in charge that the Seniors did not really end their official existence until last night at the high school auditorium. Having unfortunately forgotten this fact the juniors were unprepared for the disaster which overtook them in the midst of the most solemn burial procession.

The seniors arrived audibly and in considerable force, with the purpose of attending the obsequies. The juniors later stated that altho the seniors had to all appearances, died from lack of pep, they proved so numerous as to tax the capacity of the burial squads.

The procession of weeping juniors started from the high school at 2:30, marching toward the square. Marshals mounted on a pony and a horse headed the procession, bearing the orange and black of the class of '24. Next came the band, which played intermittently, adding its share to the pandermonium of grief which characterized the line of march. The band was followed by the hearse and the coffin containing what was suposed to be J. H. S. Seniors. This was driven by a Being in a red coat pitchfork and tail being prohibited as unbecoming the diginity of the occasion.

The funeral cortege was concluded by several auto loads of mourners, the cars being decorated in the class colors and crepe. Handkerchiefs were in evidence.

The procession moved up West State street and around to the south side of the square. Then from somewhere the resurrection trumpets of the seniors sounded forth. With more than thirty cars in a gaily decorated line, they followed their funeral processions for the remainder of the trip. The class colors, blue and white, were used in profusion. A band and several detached musical instruments added to the din of auto horns, created sounds that gave evidence of abundant life. Observers of the senior display did not fail to note the Gabriel of the outfit, seated on the fender of an auto and tooting a horn for all he was worth.

Altho the juniors made an effort to explain the extraordinary phenomenon of the entire senior class attending their own fueral, it is generally conceeded that it was brought about by a mistake in dates. J. H. S. Seniors really did not expire officially until last night, and the funeral which should have been held today was forty-eight hours in advance of its schedule.

However the juniors deserve credit for their eforts to give the class of '23 a decent burial. They have indeed fulfilled the obligation which always falls upon those who step into the shoes of dead predecessors.

AUTO REGISTER IS EXTENSIVE LIBRARY

Twenty-Six Volumes of 1923 State Car Register Now in Police and Sheriff's Office—650,000 Cars are Listed—Wheel Tax Beaches Thousand Mark.

In the local police station and in the office of the county sheriff is a library which at present contains twenty-six volumes. It is the automobile register of Illinois for the present year. Each book contains the names of 25,000 auto owners, together with the state license number, the factory number and the engine number of each car registered.

The last number registered on books received at the police station is 650,000, making a total of 26 volumes in the auto register up to date. Additional volumes are printed and sent out from the secretary of state's office, as additional cars are registered. As soon as 25,000 more numbers are given to license purchasers, a new volume of the register is issued. These books go to every police station, sheriffs office and village magistrate in the state. Several thousand copies of each edition must be issued entailing an unusual amount of work.

The growth of the auto license department of the state has been so rapid that the registration has become a great task. However, the department has attained a maxium of efficency in this line. Formerly, the year was much further advanced before the register reached the bulk that it now has. However the volumes will come much slower during the latter half of the year, as the real rush of registrants is over.

Police and county officers are required to keep the registers of one year for several months of the year following as so many auto owners retain their old license numbers as long as possible. If a man is fortunate to procure a new car after July 1st, the state will go havers with him on the license and the city will do the same on the wheel tax. However, if he gets the car before this date, fees for the entire year are required in both cases.

A study of the registers reveals some amusing things. A list of about a dozen German car owners, revealedthe fact that all of them possessed Fords. The best example of economy was that of two gentlemen who had registered a Ford jointly. It is supposed that they owned the car in partnership.

In listing cars in Chicago, the name of the city is left to be understood, and only the street address of the owner is given. In all other cases the full address is noted. All registrants are listed according to the numbers of their cars, as the purpose of the register is to locate the owner by the number of his auto.

Yesterday the local police department went over the thousand mark in the collection of the city wheel tax. The last number given out was 1,002. There are about five hundred cars on which taxes are yet to be collected. It is hoped that those have not paid their wheel tax will do so as soon as possible, as the police department is eager to wind up this part of its work.

Purify your Blood this Spring with S.S.S.

Of course you will purify your blood, you realize the importance of it. Many people, however, overlook the fact that Winter, with its heavy meat diets, has left their blood thick and sluggish. That listless, tired feeling creeps over them. They feel that something is wrong—yet, they can not say just what! But isn't it easy to throw off the ills of Winter! Take, for instance, S. S. S., the world's best blood medicine for five generations. S. S. S. purifies the blood. It makes it clean and rich. S. S. S. stops rheumatism and skin eruptions; pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema! It builds up run-down, tired men and women, beautifies complexions, and makes the flesh firmer. S. S. S. will improve your appetite and give you greater endurance, energy and strength!

Mr. D. S. Cantrell, 1202 East 4th St., Alton, Ill., writes: "For five years I was troubled with pimples and blackheads on my face and back. After taking S.S.S. for only a short while all my pimples started to leave. I feel 100% better and can eat more than ever. S.S.S. is a grand medicine."

Try it yourself. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size is more economical. Get a bottle today!

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!

Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved. Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious, health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics, which are dangerous to the delicate membranes of the intestines and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of Kellogg's Bran that sweeps and purifies, ridding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to learn to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle on or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes on package.

Leading hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. All grocers.

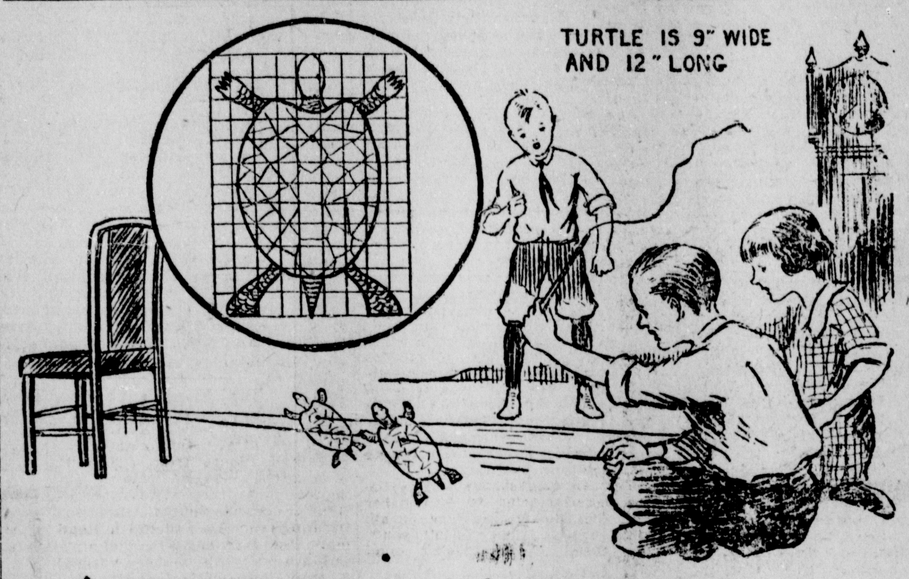
The Fun Maker

Real Fun for Every One



There' Real Speed in a Turtle Race

Remember how the tortoise beat the hare in the big race the fable tells about? Well, here's a game where the first cousins of the tortise race against each other,—The Championship Turtle Race.

It's a parlor game or a dining room game, so you don't use live turtles, but the kind you do use are the fastest crawlers you ever saw. Get sheets of heavy cardboard and make the turtles yourself—the diagram shows you how. The hole in the turtle's back is four inches from the turtle's nose and four and a half inches from the edge of the oblong piece of cardboard he is cut from. Care should be taken to use thick cardboard and to have the hind feet of each turtle perfectly flat, so they will travel well and not break.

Tie String Through Turtle

To race the steeds, tie two eight-foot lengths of string to the round of a chair, slipping one end through the hole in each turtle. Catch the loose end of one string in your hand, while your partner takes the other, back the turtle up so he is touching your hand, and then both of you start at the same time to jiggle the strings to make the animals move along toward the chair. You must not shift your position once the race has started.

If you want to make the race exciting, have the turtles pass over a slippery floor on their way to goal and, after touching the chair, race back to their owners' hands. A whole line of these creatures may be raced at once, and it is more fun if you paint their names on them, using names of famous race-horses, "Man o' War," "Water Boy," "Lou Dillon," or others.

(Next week The Fun Maker will describe "Beggars' Tag.")

YEAR'S WORK CLOSED AT JUNIOR HIGH

Certificates Presented to Large Class by Supt. Shafer—Impressive Pageant Program Given.

The annual certificate exercises of the junior high school took place Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the David Prince building. The program began with the invocation by Rev. G. E. Stickney, and then the class of more than 120 voices sang Cadman's "Awake."

A pageant, "Children of the Pilgrims," was given after which Supt. B. F. Shafer presented the certificates, Miss Laura C. White, principal of the school, assisting.

In presenting the certificates Mr. Shafer made reference to the growth of the junior high school movement and the advantage that has come to students from the grouping that is a part of the system. The superintendent commented further upon the fact that practically every member of the class had signified the intention of entering the high school.

The pageant, "The Children of the Pilgrims," was effectively given and impressed the lesson that America is filling its destiny as the melting pot of the nations, and that while true liberty is given here, that liberty and law go hand in hand.

Practically all of the class appeared in the cast of characters. The stage setting and costuming added very materially in making the pageant a marked success. The program and the names of the class have previously been published

WHITE HALL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AT LAST MEETING

Mrs. E. C. Pearce Succeeds Mrs. Mont Winters as President—Club Votes $100 to Library Furnishings.

White Hall, June 1.—The Woman's club held the closing meeting of the year at the Presbyterian church at which time Dr. Carl E. Black of Jacksonville delivered a most interesting lecture on "Some Phases of the Near East," using stereopticon slides to illustrate. His slides were excellent and his remarks were very instructive and his information coming first hand and being a recital of his own experience and observations while doing research work for the government during the World War, made a more lasting impression on his hearers than anything gleaned from books, papers or reports could have done.

He showed pictures of some of the finest buildings in the world which are located in Greece and also by contrast showed some of the hovels which the poorer people live in. He showed pictures of fine residences and hotels which during the war were turned over to the government to be used as hospitals and headquarters for the army which proved the loyalty and patriotism of those people is not any less than we Americans like to boast of. His picture of the famous tenor singer before and after the war probably brought home to his audience more than anything else the terrible havoc made on those men and women who were prisoners of war and what they had to suffer. Very few of us come in contact with these wrecks of humanity left by the war and cannot realize how terrible it is and this one illustration gave us a picture not soon to be forgotten.

While the people of the Near East are needing food and clothing yet Dr. Black thinks they need even more than a chance to help themselves. They need plows and machinery and materials to resume their industrial life more than food and clothing, though the need for these is very great. The Greeks are hard working and intelligent people who would take care of themselves if given the opportunity.

Dr. Black was accompanied by his wife and Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Chapin and Miss Nelle Morgan driving down in the afternoon and returning after the lecture.

It was voted to hold meetings every month next year instead of every two months as hertofore, the affiliated clubs to provide the alternating program, i. e.: The regular Woman's club program will be held in September and in October. The Art league will either secure a speaker of interest to their club or will give their regular program to the Woman's club. The other clubs will follow in alphabetical order each alternating month. It is expected the new plan will develop interest and create a better fellowship between the clubs.

It was also announced that the "Better Homes" demonstration would be postponed from the first week in June until a later date. The Bird House contest sponsored by the club was postponed until Exhibit day at the school and the prize contestants will be announced later through the press.

At the last business session of the Woman's club it was voted to give one hundred dollars toward the furnishing of the club room in the new Griswold library, also to place the playground money on interest until such time as it shall be neded to purchase equipment for the playground.

Reports were read and officers were elected for next year as follows:

President—Mrs. E. C. Pearce.

Vice President—Mrs. F. N. McLaren.

Secretary—Mrs. Carrol Fannig.

Treasurer—Mrs. James Haddock.

Program Committee—Mrs. William Blake, Mrs. T. M. English and Mrs. E. C. Pearce.

The out going officers are:

President—Mrs. Mont Winters.

Vice President—Mrs. W. S. Corsa

Secretary—Miss Laura Baker.

Treasurer—Miss Jessie Griswold.

The White Hall Round Table held the annual picnic at the Chautauqua grounds Friday afternoon with a good attendance of the membership and a most delightful afternoon was enjoyed. Roll call was answered with funny reminiscences of our childhood and these took up so much time and were so thoroughly enjoyed that the refreshment committee had to call a halt before the roll was called and several thereby escaped telling tales out of school. Mrs. Della Henry of Loveland, Colorado, was a guest and she told an interesting story of her school life under the superintendency of the late E. M. Prindle that brought out further discusison of the old school days later on.

The committee had provided bacon and weiners for the members and everybody gathered about the fire and roasted these an done another. The menu also included salad, cottage cheese, wafers, ice cream and hot coffee made over the open fire.

184 TIMES A BRIDESMAID

Bessemer, Mich, May 24—Miss MacFarlane of Bessemer has been a bridesmaid 184 times, but doesn't worry in the least, she says, about the old superstition that "twice a bridesmaid and you never marry." For Miss MacFarlane is young and pretty.

Eager to wed and frequently overlooking many important details, young couples are to the court house here with the license and the ring, but without witnesses.

Desiring a bridesmaid, the judge invariably sends down for Miss MacFarlane, a deputy county clerk, and she's never been known to fail.

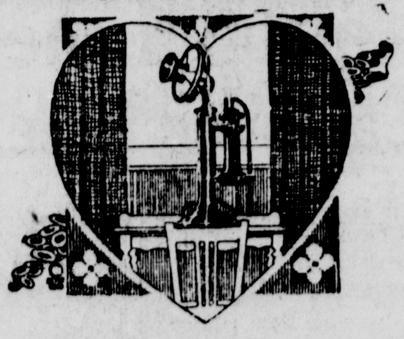
Telephone Talk No. 20



Selling Service

A telephone company sells service. It does not sell or rent telephones.

The instrument in your home or office is of use to you only by reason of the service rendered. The bill you pay is distinctly a service charge.

And telephone service is different from other services.

If your neighbor's gas supply is defective, his lighting poor, or his water supply inadequate, you are not affected. These annoyances concern only himself and his household. But if his telephone is out of order and you cannot reach him when you call, or if he makes you wait long before he answers, YOUR telephone service is unsatisfactory.

Thus the service of any telephone user may be rendered unsatisfactory by the habit or act of another.

In the interest of good telephone service, we suggest the observance of the following simple practices:

Respond promptly when the bell rings.

Make sure before calling that you have the right number by consulting the telephone directory first.

Speak distinctly, with the lips close to but not touching the mouthpiece.

When answering give your name or the name of your firm—cutting out "Hello."

A Cool-Headed American

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

Havens was too polite, and then he was not on his guard. The unknown damsel in distress was so beautiful, so finely got up, and he wasn't the man to notice the effects of the lip-stick, or that that blush-rose tint was enamel.

He helped her with her two suitcases into the smoking compartment in the train from London to Birmingham.

"Nearly missed it," she gasped, as the train started.

"Never mind; nearly isn't quite," responded Havens.

When she had recovered breath they fell into conversation. They were alone in the carriage—one of those queer little compartments in the English railroad train, in which a maximum of five persons on either side can sit facing each other. He was an American—of course she could have told that by his politeness. Americans appeared to have the monopoly of that nowadays. Englishmen were so rough since the war.

Yes, an Englishman would simply have objected to letting her into the smoking carriage at all. "But you do smoke, don't you?" she asked. "You mustn't mind me."

"Thank you," said Havens, lighting a cigar. "Do you—?" He brought out his cigarette case.

"No, thank you," the girl responded.

Havens was as chatty about himself as Americans are apt to be. He told her about the business that had brought him over; he dilated with pardonable pride upon the fact that he was quite well-to-do. He admitted that he was carrying a bank roll worth four hundred pounds at that moment.

"I'm not afraid. I guess I can take care of myself in a pinch," said Havens, puffing contentedly at his cigar.

Suddenly the girl uttered a terrific scream. Havens started up. Nothing had happened, the train was passing through the smiling countryside, and there she was smiling at him.

"Why—why—" he stammered.

"Oh, that's just to show what I can do," said the girl.

"What do you mean?" He wondered if she had gone mad.

"We stop at the next station in five minutes."

"Well?"

"The guard saw how attentive you were to me."

"What of it?"

"Just this: Unless you hand over that four hundred pounds to me I shall pull the communication cord just as we enter the station and say you tried to embrace me."

"Go ahead," said Havens.

"I'll take three hundred."

"You'll take nothing at all."

"You mean that? Once I get started there's no backing out."

"Sure, I mean it," smiled Havens, puffing away.

Suddenly the girl flung herself back on her seat. She tore at her hair. She pulled her hair about her neck. And scream after scream burst from her lips.

Havens sat smoking, watching her with an amused smile on his lips.

Finally, just as the train was entering the station, the woman jumped to her feet and pulled the cord that communicated with the engine. With a clatter of brakes the train came to a standstill at the platform.

The girl, leaning from the opposite window, screamed like one in mortal agony. Porters came running up, the guard came hurrying from his van; the sight of her, with her hair disheveled, created a sensation. Heads looked out from all the carriage windows.

"Help! Help! That man in there—"

The guard burst open the door. Havens sat smoking in his corner.

"He put his arms around me. He tried to kiss me. I've been fighting him for five minutes. I want him arrested."

"What's this, sir?" demanded the guard, as, with two or three railroad employees, he crowded into the carriage.

"Looks like it, don't it?" Havens drawled.

A policeman was on the scene. "Arrest him!" screamed the girl.

"You'll hold her, too, for blackmail."

"Oh, I can't face that. I'd rather let him go. I'll give you my name and address."

"You'll have to come with me," said the policeman. "And I'll take your name and address, miss, and you can appear against him."

"Just one moment," said Havens. "Do you see my cigar's alight?"

"Well, what of it?"

"Observe the ash is nearly three-quarters of an inch in length, that's all. Yes, I guess you'll take her, not me," Havens chuckled.

KIWANIS CLUB INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION PARAGRAPHS.

Atlanta, Ga. — Actual figures show that the Atlanta Registration Committee registered slightly under 3,000 Kiwanians in 3 hours and 10 minutes the first day of the convention.

True to Kiwanis custom the international convention is featuring its singing. Jules Brazil, the internationally famous Scotch-Canadian Song Leader and Entertainer leads the convention singing, appearing in kilties and wearing a monocle. Jules, with irrepressible wit and enthusiasm keeps the convention's spirits at high tide.

An exhibit covering the various departments of Kiwanis activities located in the lobby of the Headquarters hotel graphically furnished an idea of what Kiwanis is doing.

Many interesting musical organizations are here from all parts of the country. Among them the Highland Pipers from Toronto, wearing kilties and playing the Scotch Bag-pipes. The Alabama Boys industrial School Band from Birmingham, Ala., the 24th Regiment Band from Ft. Benning, Columbus, Ga., the original Kiwanis Glee Club of Houston, Texas and the Kiwanis Band from Sidney, Ohio, and Asheville, N. C.

The Extension Dept. report the fact that 238 new clubs have joined the Kiwanis Circle since the last annual international convention

Extensive plans were made for the observance of National Decoration Day when Kiwanians from the north, the south and all Canada joined in a unique memorial service in honor of the heroes of all wars in which America has had a part The G. A. R., the United Confederate Veterans, the Veterans of the Spanish War, the American Legion and the Canadian War Veterans united in these exercises.

RETURN HOME FROM KIWANIS CONVENTION

Dr. A. B. Applebee and Lloyd Reid returned last night from Atlanta, Ga., where they attended the Kiwanis convention. Other members of the party will return later.

Dr. Applebee said last night that Atlanta was a great city and that its citizens certainly showed the visiting Kiwanians old fashioned southern hospitality. Local Kiwanians took part in the broadcasting from the radio station of the Atlanta Journal during the week and no doubt local radio bugs heard them if they were "listening in."

AUTO WRECKED NEAR ARNOLD LAST NIGHT

An auto driven by E. T. Gaines of Springfield and containing several other persons, was smashed in a collision on the hard road near Arnold late Friday night. A large Buick car struck Mr. Gaines' machine, damaging it so badly that the party had to be taken back to Springfield in a taxi. The driver of the other car speeded up and left his victims without stopping to learn the extent of the damage. It was impossible to identify those in the Buick. Police here were notified to be on the lookout for the car.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TO BE HELD ON ILLINOIS FIELD THIS AFTERNOON

Athletes of Illinois Colleges Will Contest for the Title on Illinois Field Today—Preliminaries Were Held Yesterday—Illinois Men Qualify

With the running of the qualifying heats in the dash events yesterday afternoon and the playing of the preliminary matches of golf and tennis, all is set for the finals of the I. I. A. C. to be held today.

The golf and tennis finals will be played this morning and will be out of the way for the track and field events which will be held in the afternoon. In the qualifying events in the dashes no fast time was made, the men merely stepping fast enough to place for the real races today.

Generally fair weather is promised by the weather man and it should mean a great crowd of spectators to witness the events this afternoon. Illinois College has not entertained the state meet since 1916. That year the weather was bad, water standing on the track to a depth of several inches at 1 o'clock the afternoon of the final events.

The school has gone to considerable expense in preparation for the meet and local citizens should show their appreciation by turning out in large numbers this afternoon. If we show our appreciation by our presence there is no reason why the meet cannot be brought back here two yers hence.

Indications point to one of the most closely contested meets in the history of the organization. In the century and 220 dashes, Swanson and Lamb of Lombard, Tarpy of Knox, Duncan of Eastern teachers and several other fast men will meet. Swanson by virtue of his great running last year is the favorite. However, many believe he will be forced to step close to his records to capture these events today.

In the high hurdles both heats were stepped in 16 1-5 yesterday and it promises to be a close race. Darling of Wesleyan, Hunter of Knox and Painter of Carthage promise to have a battle royal in the 220 hurdles.

Rhind of Knox is favorite in the 440 because of his victory last year. Illinois placed Weber and Johnson in this event. These men together with the Niblock brothers of Monmouth promise to make Rhind travel his best to finish in front.

Because of his great race in the half mile against Illinois College last week, Congdon of Monmouth is favored to win this event. However there are several other good steppers in the race and Congdon will have to be in his best form to win. The mile and two mile events are also expected to furnish some keen competition.

Despite the fact that he has been sick for the past week Mellon of Illinois College is expected to win the discus and shot put tho Thompson of Lombard is considered a dangerous competitor and there may be some dark horses sprung by the other schools.

In O'Brien and Hatfield, Illinois has two consistent pole vaulters and they should be able to get some points in that event. With so many schools with apparent point winners the one that can amass 30 points should come pretty near winning the meet.

The meet will start at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon with the pole vault. On account of taking so long to finish the event it is started half an hour earlier than the track events, which will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

The results of the preliminaries in track and golf are given hereunder.

KILBANE MEETS CRIQUI TODAY

NEW YORK, June 1. — Grey-haired Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, holder of the world's feather-weight boxing title for eleven years will defend it tomorrow afternoon at the Polo Grounds in a 15 round match with Eugene Criqui of France, champion of Europe at the weight.

Criqui, a wounded veteran of the war came to the United States buoyed by 22 consecutive victories by knockouts. Twenty-nine years old, rugged, a clever boxer and a stiff puncher with either hand, he has hopes of wearing down the veteran and taking the title. Criqui suffered serious wounds at Verdun. After his recovery he returned to the ring and became a terror to featherweights all over Europe. Before the war he had been a fair boxer with no punch. He soon became European champion.

The champion, Kilbane has done little ring work during the last three years. In preparation for tomorrow's engagement he has however, shown a great deal of speed and all his old time prowess with the gloves. If he is able to take the same form into the ring against Criqui, many of the experts believe that his title will not be taken from him.

GIANTS OVERWHELM PHILLIES WINNING 22-8

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—New York overwhelmed the Philadelphia team today winning by 22 to 8. The Giants scored in every inning, which is a modern record for big league base ball.

Jimmy O'Connell, the Giants' center fielder hit three doubles, a homer and a single in six times at bat and accepted eight hard chances in the field. The four local pitchers were helpless against the Giants' onslaught.

Spitball Pitchers are Fast Passing Out

—ONLY NINE TWIRLERS USING THAT STYLE REMAIN IN MAJORS—

The last American League spitball hurlers. At the left is Quinn of Boston; in the upper center, Shocker of St. Louis; lower center, Faber of Chicago, and Coveleskie, Cleveland.

By Billy Evans

The day of the spitball pitcher is fast passing.

It won't be very long before that species of pitching will have entirely passed out of the major leagues.

How many years before the spitball becomes merely a memory?

Well, that is purely a mattter of opinion, and opinion differs widely on all things pertaining to baseball.

I think it is fairly conservative to say that within six years the spitball delivery will have become very much passe.

Just at present there are only about nine pitchers of any prominence who have the right to continue the use of the spitter.

When the spitball delivery was eliminated from the game, certain dispensation was given pitchers who depended on its use. These pitchers were made immune from the ruling, and were given permission to continue the use of the delivery while they remained in the majors. That was only fair.

Few Spitballers Remain.

In the American League there are five pitchers who still dabble with the spitter. They are Faber of Chicago, Shocker of St. Louis, Coveleskie of Cleveland, Quinn of Boston and Russell of Washington.

That the spitball is still an effective delivery as far as the American League goes is proved by the fact that three of the first eight pitchers in point of effectiveness last season were spitball pitchers. Faber, Shocker and Coveleskie. Faber led the league in point of effectiveness as to earned runs.

In the National League are Burleigh Grimes of Brooklyn, Bill Doak of St. Louis, Dana Fillingim of Boston and Clarence Mitchel of Philadelphia. The first three named are the only rarely, being used in the outfield at first base or pinch hitter more than pitcher.

Cause of Trick Pitching

Thus in reality there are only eight pitchers in the two major leagues who still employ the spitball. Most of these pitchers are veterans and inside of six years most of them will have passed out. Possibly a few, who use the spitter more as a threat, may last a bit longer.

Coveliski, Bill Doak and Grimes use the spitball almost exclusively on the other hand, Shocker and Faber use it more as a threat, Shocker is a wonder at mixing them up, while Faber has a fine side-arm fast ball and a mighty good curve,. He resortes to the spitter in a pinch more than at any other time.

It is questionable if any delivery originated by the pitchers has caused so much agitation as the pitchers as the spitball. Arguments for and against it have constantly been offered since its introduction.

Being a freak delivery it caused the brainy pitchers to delive deeper for trick stuff. As a matter of fact, the spitter is indirectly responsible for every bit of trick pitching that has crept into the game.

There is no denying the effectiveness of the spitball when properly controlled, the most difficult feature of the delivery.

Its complete passing, however, will meet with the approval of every major league batsman.

WHITE SOX DROP INTO THE CELLAR

Defeat By Browns Places Them at Bottom of Percentage Column—Winners Drive Charley Robertson From the Mound.

Chicago, June 1. — Chicago dropped into the cellar today when St. Louis defeated them, eight to five. The visitors drove Charley Robertson off the mound in the second inning when they piled up a five run lead and added three more runs by hitting T. Blankenship opportunely. They were unable to do anything to Mack. Shocker was hit freely but tightened up in the pinches and was backed up by good support.

Places Eleven Men in Finals, While Illinois Only Places Seven—Hubbard and Angier Set New Marks in Jump and Javelin.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 2.—With 339 athletes from seventeen mid-west universities entered, the Western Conference outdoor track and field championships will be decided tomorrow with indications favoring a triumph for Michigan over Illinois.

Failure of the Illinois stars to qualify in the running high jump and the discus throw today, virtually ruined the Illini chances for victory but Illinois may be expected to wage a desperate contest for second place honors.

Every university in the Big Ten with seven outside institutions will have entries. Outside teams competing will be Notre Dame, Missouri, Drake, Washington of St. Louis, Michigan Aggies, Earlham and the Western Michigan State Normal.

Two Western conference records were shattered today. Dewart Hubbard, star negro athlete of Michigan, smashed the record for the running broad jump, when he leaped 25 feet, 1½ inches, beating the former "big ten" record made by Carl Johnson of Michigan in 1919, by a foot and a half inch.

Milton Angier of Illinois, holder of the American javelin record of 203 feet 9½ inches, smashed the conference record held by himself when he heaved the shaft 198 feet 10 3-4 inches, beating his record of 196 feet 11 inches made a year ago.

Michigan placed eleven men in the finals and Illinois seven.

Results in the qualifying events follow:

440 yard run:—Sweet, Fitch, Illinois; Marton, Siemons, Michigan; Everett, Ohio State; Bier, Washington of St. Louis; Noll, Iowa and Hagen, Northwestern. Best time by Sweet, 48 2-5.

Running broad jump:—Hubbard, Michigan; Campbell, Minnesota; Sweeney and Johnson, Illinois; Hogan, Notre Dame; Pence, Purdue; Snyder, Ohio State. Best jump by Hubbard, 25 feet 1½ inches; new conference record, former record of 24 feet 1 inch made by Carl Johnson of Michigan, in 1919.

880 yard run:—Telford, Kahn, Northwestern; Reineke, Hattendorf, Michigan; Carter Valle, Hilberts, Ramsey, Wisconsin; Morrow, Iowa. Best time by Telford, 1:56 3-5.

Running high jump:—Smith, McEllvain, Nufer, Michigan; Tuptar, Wisconsin; Dickson, Chicago; Weekes, Notre Dame; all cleared six feet one inch.

Discus throw:—Lieb, Notre Dame; Gross, Minnesota; Lincoln, Missouri; Frieda, Chicago; Brooker, Michigan; Coughlin, Illinois. Best throw by Lieb, 127 feet, 11 inches.

Hammer throw:—Hinds and Schmidt, Michigan; Hill, Illinois; Nichols and Vanelis, Wisconsin; Patchell, Ohio State. Best throw by Hinds, 144 feet, 4½ inches.

Javelin throw:—Angier, Illinois; Oberst and Moes, Notre Dame; Frieda, Chicago; Lingenfelter, Drake; Schjoll, Minnesota. Best throw by Angier, 198 feet, 10 3-4 inches. New conference record; former record of 196 feet 11 inches made by Angier in 1922.

LIGHT SUPPLIES MAKE BUTTER MARKET FIRM

CHICAGO, June 1.—Very little supplies and an active demand for all grades were responsible for the firm condition of the butter market here today and the sharp advance in prices. Buyers had difficulty in filling their orders and receivers held firmly for advances. Early in the day sales were made below those reported below but at the close these prices were freely bid in many cases without attracting sellers. The car market was equally firm. Market Report

By The Associated Press

SHARP BREAK IN WHEAT PRICES

CHICAGO, June 1. — Wheat underwent a sharp break in price today chiefly as the result of an estimate that the 1923 domestic crop would total only 7,000,000 bushels less than last year's harvest. The close was heavy 3⅜ to 4½c net lower with July $1.09⅞ to $1.10, and Sept. $1.09⅜ to $109⅞. Corn lost ⅛@¼c to 1c and oats ⅞ to 1c. In provisions the outcome was 5c to 10c advance.

With crop conditions favorable, the wheat market started with a downward tendency emphasized somewhat by a setback in Liverpool prices despite an advance yesterday on this side of the Atlantic. Then came a surprise on authoritative private estimate that this year's total wheat crop in the United States would be nearly equal to the 1922 aggregate, whereas most traders had expected that estimates today would even be less than those which had been issued a month ago.

Liquidating sales which set in on the part of holders of wheat lasted thruout the session and the market closed at practically lowest level of the day. Some export business took place on the decline, but the amount was insufficient to rally prices.

Corn and oats were easier in sympathy with wheat but received better buying support than wheat did. On the other hand rye touched a new low-price record for the season.

Provisions reflected firmness of hog values.

NEW YORK, June 1 —U. S. government bonds closed: Liberty 3½s 10.20; first 4s 98.11; second 4s 98.10; first 4¼s 98.9; second 4¼s 98.10; third 4¼s 98.24; fourth 4¼s 98.12; treasury 4¼s 99.16.

DUNN'S REPORT WILL SAY TODAY

NEW YORK, June 1.— Dun's tomorrow will say: "There is a sharper distinction now in different branches of industry between activity on old orders and the development of new business. Production at many plants continues at a high rate to fill contracts previously placed, but pressure of demand in various quarters has recently relaxed. This condition prevails in leading basic lines, yet the heavy purchasing of earlier months had covered many requirements at hand and some buying was to be expected. As a wholesome sign the rapid expansion of the first quarter that conservative tendencies predominate in most markets and that over extension of operations is being avoided.

"With the bulk of the transactions based on actual needs neither on speculative probabilities, trade has been brisk."

Weekly bank clearings $5,610-143,000.

CASH WHEAT FOLLOWS FUTURES

CHICAGO, June 1.—Cash grain gossip:—Cash wheat followed the futures today and prices were 2½ @2⅜c easier; premiums and discounts were based on the July price. Cash sales here were 5000 bushels.

The seaboard estimated 400,-000 bushels of wheat booked for export, including 80,000 bushels of new crop wheat.

Corn closed ¼@½c lower; premiums were easier on mixed and white grades but yellow was firmer. Cash sales here were 36,000 bushels including 6,000 bushels to exporters.

Oats finished ⅜c lower; premiums were unchanged. Shipping sales here were 50,000 bushels.

Cars inspected: wheat 8; corn 34; oats 38.

STOCKS SUSTAIN SHARP SETBACK

FINANCIAL.
Day's total sales 951,000 shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 95.36; net loss 2.17.
High 1923 — 105.38; low 92.77.
Twenty railroads averaged 81.52; net loss 1.62.
High 1923 — 90.63; 80.13.
Total sales (par value) $9,-604,000.

NEW YORK, June 1. —Stock prices sustained a sharp setback in today's more active market. The rapidity of the recent rise and the disinclination of operators for the advance to extend their commitments at current levels, induced rather extensive short selling by bear traders.

The reaction covered the entire list, losses in a number of the active shares ranging from 1 to nearly 5 points.

Investment railroad shares yielded with the rest despite the unusually favorable April earnings statements and the fact that carloadings for the next week ending May 19 were the largest this year and within 2½ per cent of the high record for all time, made on October 19, 1919.

Public interest in the market is a low ebb. Brokers loans now are estimated at $1,720,000,000 or $300,000,000 below those on May 1st.

The sharpest breaks today were in the speculative industrials. California Petroleum which has been one of the individual favorites all week established a new high for all time at 117⅜ and then slumped to 111⅞ where it was off 4½ points on the day.

U. S. Liberty bonds turned reactionary. Recession in the active United States government bonds was expected in view of their consistent firmness of late together with the slight scarcity of time funds over the first of the month period.

One Hundred and Twenty-Two Seniors Receive Diplomas in Commencement Program Last Night—Dr. L. H. Beeler Discusses Vital Questions Asked by Young People—Auditorium is Packed.

Three fundamental questions of youth were presented last evening by Dr. L. H. Beeler in his address before the largest class ever graduated from the local high school, and an audience that packed the auditorium.

B. F. Shafer, superintendent of schools, presented the one hundred and twenty-two graduates for diplomas which were awarded by Dr. Carl E. Black as president of the Board of Education. The order of exercises was as follows:

.....Dr. Carl E. Black
President of Board of Education.

Dr. Beeler stated that the young people of the land, as they reach the Commencement season, are asking the questions: "What Can I know?" "What can I do?" and "Whom can I serve?" Every problem, he said, is a human problem. There was never a bridge built, a city planned, a forest leveled, or any other thing accomplished, that it did not take the form of a human problem. It is the solving of these problems as they present themselves to mankind that makes up the greater part of life.

In asking what they can know, young people are seeking to find their way in the world of education. They are knocking at the doors of colleges and universities. It does not matter whether it is a telescope or a microscope which they use in seeking out knowledge, the vital longing for something to know remains the same.

The next question is one of life work—What can I do? If the young people miss the right answer to this question, they fail to register and also to find happiness. The penitentiaries, jails and almshouses are filled with unfortunates who have failed to find the answer to this question. It is here that the community, the home, the church and the business world can aid the youth, going with him into the value of the great world calls for service. The greatest urge is the call to work. A young man or a young woman cannot register his highest unless he or she is willing to go beyond where others have died and is willing also to make the greatest sacrifice in service.

Seeing Things Thru.

In finding the life work, it is expedient to be able to meet and solve every single situation. A professor in a California university sought a student assistant. He first selected a boy who had made good grades only. He told the youth to take the magazines which had collected during the year and send them to the bindery. The boy asked how he should pack the books, where he should find the material, how he should write the address, finally exhausting the professor's patience and losing his job. He wound up by running a small confectionery stand near the university.

The next year, the professor tried again, this time selecting his helper for other qualities. He gave him the same task, merely telling him to pack up the magazines and send them to the bindery. One morning about three months later the youth said to his employer: "Professor, if you want to use those books they are on the third shelf to your right in your office." That lad was Herbert Hoover, who later organized the food resources of America. It is this ability to see a situation thru to the finish and get results that makes young people win.

In the third question, the youth is seeking an object of service. He must become one of three things, a Christian, a philosopher or a materialist. No individual or nation ever lived and prospered for long, who worshiped beneath its level. No mind ever functioned with benefit to itself and to society when it worshipped something beneath itself. The listener may point to Greece and the great men of that nation; yet when they walked down the streets of Athens with laurrel wreaths on their brow, on each side of them were the deaf, the halt, the lame, the blind and the insane, reaching out their hands for assistance which never came. A hospital was never heard of before the coming of Christ. A nation lives and prospers only in proportion to the ways in which it ministers to the weak, lifts up the fallen and helps the helpless. The Christian ideal points the way of true service.

Service All Important.

In closing his address, Dr. Beeler quoted the poem. "In Flanders Field the Poppies Grow." We must "throw the torch" to the hands of youth who are to take up our quarrel with the foe." That foe is ignorance, illiteracy, sin, death. The greatest call is to serve others. In serving others the youth serves God, finds his life work, and learns a deeper wisdom than he can otherwise ever know.

The musical portion of the program, which was furnished by members of the class and by the high school male quartet, was of high quality. Hearty applause followed each number, and the quartet was called back for the second encore.

In presenting the class to the board of education, Supt. B. F. Shafer spoke of the marked increase in high school attendance and in the size of the senior class in the last two years. Dr. Carl E. Black, president of the board, in his address of presentation of diplomas, urged the public to think earnestly of the needs of the local school system as regards buildings for the ward schools. He presented the ways in which new buildings and equipment could be secured, and told his audience it was up to them by what methods and how soon the improvements could be made.

AUTOS COLLIDED AT ARNOLD FRIDAY

Both Machines Were Badly ed Injury

An automobile collision resulting in the crippling of two cars and a general shaking-up of the occupants occured at Arnold station Thursday morning about 10:30 o'clock.

W. A. Songer traveling in a Velie with his daughter and two sons from the state of Louisiana to Seigle Pennsylvania was going east on the hard road and collided with a Ford occupied by Paul Tomlinson and Mrs. Marguerite Ensor and baby, who were coming from the south, the collision occuring directly in front of the store on the South side of the Wabash tracks.

Both cars were so badly crippled that it was necessary to repair them before they could be used further. The Ford had one wheel smashed, one fener torn off and the side badly caved in, and the Velie had one twisted axle, one broken fender and one twisted light.

It was very fortunate that none of the occupants was seriously hurt.

ENJOYED OUTING IN TIMBER FRIDAY

Murrayville, June 1.—The pupils of the grammar room in the school here, taught by Mrs. Ada Barton, enjoyed an outing this afternoon at the Clements timber around the big pond. The picnic was held in honor of Hazel Blakeman and Dolly Tribbet, pupils in the room, who have been neither absent nor tardy during the entire school term.

Guests at the party included Mrs. Bess Southwell of Jacksonville, Golden and Earl Blakeman, Lloyd White, Marjorie and Stella Barton, Mrs. Nettie Million and Harold Cunningham. The pupils and their guests enjoyed games, rowing and fishing and an excellent picnic supper. Prizes were won by Mrs. Southwell, Mrs. Barton and Alice Rimbey.

George W. Jackson was a business visitor from Murrayville Friday.

ROTARIANS HEARD COMMUNITY EXPERT

Dr. Hieronymous Made Address at Friday Luncheon—Emphasized the Value of Art in City Planning—Make Plans for International Meet

At the luncheon of the Rotary club at the Pacific hotel Friday Dr. R. E. Hieronymous of the University of Illinois was the speaker Dr. Hieronymous has for years been a specialist in community development work and his remarks were along that line.

The speaker emphasized how community development eventually means the growth of the state and nation. Special reference was made to a recent plan for marking the hundred most beautiful spots in the state. Photographs are being taken of bits of scenery thruout Illinois and eventually the choicest of these will be selected and compiled in one art book. Rotarians were urged to use their influence in the development of artistic things in their home community.

The newest Rotarians, C. E. Segner and Muriel E. Cain, were introduced by President Dollear, who said that the "charge" would be given next Friday.

Guests of the day included E. E. Nicholson, a Rotarian from Beardstown; E. J. Parsons, a Springfield Rotarian, Luther Hayden of Danville, and Rev. George E. Stickney of Jacksonville.

Hat covers of blue and gold, bearing the Rotary club emblem and the word "Illinois," together with a Jacksonville pennant were approved as the insignia for the club at the international meeting in St. Louis two weeks hence. REV. C. M. EAMES TELLS OF CHINESE BANDITS

Is Familiar with Territory Where Americans are Now Held Captive—Are Made up Mainly of Discharged Soldiers.

The Chinese city of Paotsiau where the foreign prisoners are being held by bandits for ransom is located in the territory served by the Reverend Charles M. Eames of West State street, who is now on furlough in the United States.

Reverend Eames states that kidnaping is a very common crime in that part of China but as a rule the captives are held but a short time. He says, however, from what he knows of these gangs of bandits, many of whom he has personally met, that they would not hesitate to put the present captives to death if they were certain that such a move would serve them in gaining their purpose.

These bandits, according to Reverend Eames, are made up principally of discharged soldiers some of whom have not been paid in full for their services and who cannot now obtain any remunerative employment as all classes of labor, both skilled and unskilled are more than plentiful, and the wages are very low, the wages for a skilled carpenter being in our money about fifteen cents a day, while unskilled labor can be had in abundance for from five cents per day up, and in each of these cases the laborer must board himself. The discharge of so many soldiers is caused from reduction of the army following factional fighting at which time the army is recruited to a large strength and discharged after the disturbances have been quelled. Another reason is that each division commander in the army is allowed to recruit his own army and in case of a defeat his army is disbanded. He stated that it was his opinion that the pay of a private soldier was somewhere in the neighborhood of eight dollars per month with keep, which is quite an inducement considering the labor situation outside of the army.

The general custom used to be to kidnap small detachments along the country roads, and Reverend Eames says that he has often wondered why some band of bandits had never thought of the plan of holding up one of the trains. According to late reports from that district there are a number of members of this particular band that have been educated in civilized countries and they are probably using the methods practiced by bandits in "civilized" countries.

Reverend Eames says that as far as his acquaintance with them goes, these bandits do not seem such a bad lot as he was never able to distinguish much difference between the soldiers and the gangs of so-called bandits. He has traveled thru this region many times and often with immense amounts of money on his person when he was on famine relief work and was never molested in the least.

In case any of the readers are unable to pronounce the name of the city Paotsiau, Reverend Eames states that this name translated means The City of Boiled Dumplings, as this dish is very popular in that region.

FLAMES DESTROY ALLEN AVENUE HOME

The residence of Mrs. Nora Wells, 832 Allen avenue, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday afternoon, and the residence of Amons Vieira, 830 Allen avenue, and of James Nunes, 808 Allen avenue, were damaged. The fire started in the Wells home and gained considerable headway before it was discovered. The house and its contents were completely destroyed.

The heat of the fire damaged the weatherboarding on the Vieira residence, and sparks fell on the roof of the Nunes home, burning several small holes before firemen could get to it. The department responded at the first alarm which came from the Wells home. Mrs. Wells was not at home and it is not known how the fire started. Some children were playing in the yard. The house and contents were a total loss, not being covered by insurance.
